BLESSED VIRGIN .- A most interesting and touching ceremony took place at St. Peter's cathedral Sunday afternoon, the occasion beg the floral offering to the Blessed Virgin by the children of the congregation, which occurs annually in this the month of Mayespecially devoted to the mother of God. The Sodality of St. Aloysius and the Sodality of the Holy Angels, with their beautiful banners, together with the boys' choir, led the procession of boys, numbering about two hundred and fifty, each bearing in his hand a bouquet of flowers. The procession, moving from the basement of the cathedral, entered the main portals and wound its way through the aisles and stopped in front of the altar of the Blessed Virgio, where a dedication was read by Master George Reinbardt; after which each bouquet was deposited within the sanctuary about the altar. This was followed by a like procession on the part of the girls, about two hundred in number, each wearing white veils, the dedicatory address being beautifully recited by Miss Christina Francisco.

After the presentation was concluded the alter presented the appearance of a vast mound of flowery sweets. During the moving of the two processions the youthful choirs attached to each sang several hymns to the Virgin very sweetly.

The children having taken seats in the pews of the centre aisle of the church, Rev. Father Charles proceeded to give a short instruction upon the great love, respect, and affection they should have for their heavenly mother, and spoke with some severity upon the too prevalent practice among children of styling their parents "old man" and "old woman." He concluded by exhorting both young and old to model their lives after the beautiful example set by the patroness of this month-Mary, the mother of God. The Cathedral was crowded with an interested

THE CIVIL-RIGHTS BILL.

REV. W. B. DERRICK'S VIEWS ABOUT MIXED SCHOOLS, OPPOSED BY SOME COLORED POLITICIANS.

Mass-Meeting on Navy Hill Yesterday Eve ning-The Civil-Rights Bill and Mixed Schools Endorsed.

Last Wednesday we published an extract from a sensible sermon delivered by Rev. W B. Derrick, pastor of the Third-Street (African) Methodist church of this city, in which the minister's views were expressed against that feature of the pending civil-rights bill do not endorse it, they have not thought pro opinions. Some of the colored politicians of the city, however, took offence at it, and last Friday night they had a conference, appointing their views, and called a meeting to consider them. The meeting was appounced to take place on Navy Hill vesterday evening at 3 o'clock. At that hour there was assembled at the spot-a vacant lot on Seventh street, Marshall Ward: Club-House, corner of Navy Hill-only four persons. Two of these were wood-sawyers carrying the implements of their calling, one was the proprietor of a bucket of lemonade, and the fourth was a citizen at large. In half an hour their number was doubled; in an hour there were probably fifty present; by 5 o'clock about 150 men were collected together-many of them A FRIGHTFUL FALL .- On Sunday after- being residents of the neighborhood returned noon Lewis R. Regarding the civil-rights bill, as framed by the late Charles Summer, and its adoption by the American people, as the crowning act by which the negroes of this country shall be the civil political equals of all men; and through which they may obtain those rights of equals and exact justice of which they are now denied, and recognizing it as the bounden duty of all men who seek our moral, pecuniary, and political support to aid us to secure its early passage; therefore.

Resolved, 1st. That we are carnestly in favor of the immediate passage of the civil-rights bill as it came from the hands of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and that we appeal to the representatives in Congress from Virginia to vote for said bill.

> THE THEATRE-LITTLE NELL .- This charming little actress made her first appearance last night in the highly sensational play of "Fidelia, the Fire Waif." Of course the chief interest centered on "Little Nell," the beroine of the piece, who most admirably represented six distinct characters. A beautiful blonde, with a charming face and person and a winning voice, she charmed all present, and was constantly encored. Such in evation, spontaneous and unanimous, has rarely before been given to any actress in this city. She may well be proud of the compliment paid her last night.

> The scenic display was startling. The grand fire seeme in the first act was so natural that it was hard to realize that a conflagration was imminent. At the conclusion of the play the little aetress was called in front of the curtain and made a graceful little speech to the audience, which was well received.

I have also r plenished my stock of fans, chate laines, vinalgrettes, fancy jewelry, &c.; and while my prices for these goods are the most moderate, can safely add, without fear of contradiction, that t is the largest stock of the kind in the city.

Thanking the ladies of this community for their liberal patronage, I will ask of them a continuance of their favors, promising in return in the future as in the past, a fair and honest dealing in all busi ness transactions. E. L. GRANGER. Very respectfully, No. 627 Broad street.

As in earnest sincerity of this declaration, I invite any gentleman or lady to call at my establishment and try it without charge.
